

Charli Morachnick – “Pixhell”

These images are a depiction of the feelings of loneliness and emotional disconnect associated with the current environment of digital relationships. Exclusively communicating via screens creates a sense of isolation and a lack of authenticity. There's this sense of discomfort and vulnerability, much like being naked in uncommon places.